

Arizona State Museum

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA®

Through the Eyes of the Eagle: Illustrating Healthy Living

will be on display at Arizona State Museum from October 15, 2011-January 7, 2012. This family-friendly exhibition, inspired by a children's book series of the same name, strives to raise awareness about type 2 diabetes prevention from a Native American perspective. History, culture, and health are explored through objects, photographs, artwork, storytelling, and video. Interactive and hands-on activities encourage healthier living.

Special Outreach programs are available for PCPL branches (free):

Preschool Storytime: Through the Eyes of the Eagle: Knees Lifted High story with finger puppets, movement activities, make stick puppet (30 minutes)

Family Storytime: Through the Eyes of the Eagle: Plate Full of Color story with finger puppets, 3 friendly food activities (60 minutes)

Teen Program: It's Up 2 You! comic, diabetes challenge questions, make a comic strip, make a healthy soda (60-90 minutes)

Presenters and materials provided by Arizona State Museum. Availability of programs depends on availability of presenters. Each branch of PCPL will be provided with a set of the Through the Eyes of the Eagle books and It's up 2 You! comic book.

Would you like a program at your branch?

Please let us know if and when you would like a program so we can schedule it. Email or call us phone 520-621-9434; email asmedu@email.arizona.edu. Please indicate your name and contact information, library branch, location, program desired, date and time, and how many people you anticipate attending.